Overview

The global pandemic has had a steady impact on migration and global mobility in terms of COVID-19 related air travel restrictions. As of 12th July 2021, more than 186 million cases¹ of COVID-19 have been recorded globally, including more than 4 million deaths. Simultaneously, the World Health Organization reports more than 3 billion doses of the vaccine have been administered globally as of 1st July 2021. A total of 228 countries, territories, or areas (C/T/As) have issued 109,956 travel related measures as of 12th July 2021, indicating a negligible increase of 3 measures from 109,953 travel related measures issued on 5th July 2021. Of these, 28,088 were reported as entry restrictions and 81,868 were reported as conditions for authorized entry. In the reporting period, there was almost no change (0.18%) in entry restrictions and in conditions for authorized entry (0.06%). In terms of conditions for authorized entry, there was a decrease of seven per cent in location surveillance such as downloading apps on personal devices or informing local authorities and almost no change (0.3%) in medical requirements such as quarantine or medical screening upon arrival. In the reporting period, there was an increase of 107 per cent in restrictions on specific nationalities. In parallel to existing travel restrictions, a total of 201 countries, territories or areas have issued 980 exceptions enabling mobility. ¹ WHO defines the confirmed case as "a person with laboratory confirmation of 2019-nCoV infection, irrespective of clinical signs and symptoms".

■ Changes in Entry Restrictions and Conditions for Authorized Entry, Over Time

The map below provides a global overview of the changes between the type of measures issued by C/T/As and gradual increases in the issuance of 'entry restrictions' (e.g. total entry restrictions for passengers) and/or 'conditions for authorized entry' (e.g. medical measures in the form of PCR test, quarantine, etc.). As of 17th March 2020, only 90 governments and authorities across the world had announced COVID-19 related travel measures, by 21st May 2020 this number increased to 221 whereas as of 12th July 2021, 228 out of 247 C/T/As (92%) have issued some form of entry restrictions or conditions for authorized entry at international airports.

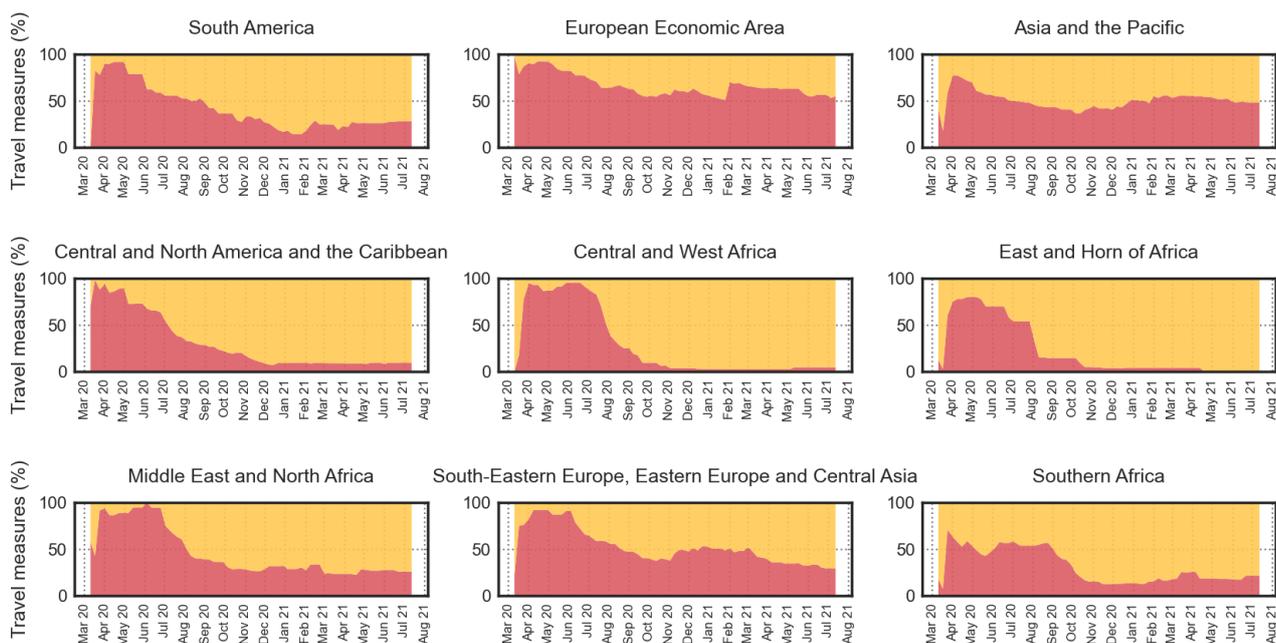

The chart below shows the shift from 'entry restrictions' to 'conditions for authorized entry' over time. In April 2020, entry restrictions constituted 80 per cent of all COVID-19 related measures (coloured in red), but this proportion has gradually decreased to 25 per cent, as of 12th July 2021.

Entry restrictions vs. conditions for authorized entry – Global overview

Although most of the IOM regions have gradually shifted from 'entry restrictions' to 'conditions for authorized entry' there are important differences in terms of timing and severity of measures. For instance, the IOM regions of Central and West Africa and East and Horn of Africa have seen the sharpest shift from restrictions to conditions, with strict entry restrictions representing less than 5 per cent of the total travel related measures as of 12th July 2021. On the other hand, IOM regions of Europe Economic Area and Asia and the Pacific have seen a less significant shift from restrictions to conditions, with restrictions representing over 50 per cent of the total travel related measures in the last reporting period. These regional differences over time reflect the dissimilar evolution of the COVID-19 pandemic in different geographical areas.
